The Art of Welcome

The first grand banquet and resort of its kind at Bahal, Bhiwani — built at the scale of the occasion.

Named for the elders who set the family table.

Gintara draws its name from Gindo and Tara Chand — the elders whose instinct for generosity set the family table for generations. It is a homegrown house of grand Indian hospitality, built to receive every guest as family and remember them as honoured.

Gintara Heritage at Bahal opens the chapter: a banquet and resort campus built for the region's weddings, conferences and celebrations — the first of its kind in reach, and the beginning of a hospitality house that will grow into hotels, conventions and residences.
